Lenten Rules for Fasting and Abstinence

On Ash Wednesday, March 2nd and Good Friday, April 15th, Roman Catholics between the ages of 18 and 59, must fast and abstain from all meat.

Either one full meal is allowed or two smaller meals that do not equal that of a full meal.

And forget the snacks, too!

Additionally, the rule for abstaining from meat is binding during all Fridays in Lent for Catholics aged 14 and onwards.

The Stations of the Cross

The Stations of the Cross, which follow the path of Christ from Pontius Pilate's praetorium to Christ's tomb, has been a popular devotion among Catholics for many generations. In the 16th century, this pathway was officially entitled the "Via Dolorosa" (Sorrowful Way) or simply the Way of the Cross.

Please join Fr. Joe as he leads us in praying The Stations of the Cross, beginning at 7:00 pm in the Church every Friday throughout the Season of Lent.

"Roe isn't really about the woman's choice, is it? It's about the doctor's freedom to practice... it wasn't woman-centered, it was physician-centered."

~ Ruth Bader Ginsburg

LIVE THE LITURGY

INSPIRATION FOR THE WEEK

"From the fullness of the heart the mouth speaks."

*What we say reveals so much about who we are. It discloses what is really going on within us: our integrity, priorities, depth of conscience, level of compassion and understanding of mercy. People whose speech is judgmental or overly critical usually reveal an interior life that is angry, unsettled, defensive, and shallow. Our speech communicates our sense of right and wrong, the strength of our relationship with God and how we feel about our fellow human beings. We are also quick to point out the faults of others, concentrating on their shortcomings and wrongdoings before our own.

Only God fully understands what is going on inside the human heart. Only God can see the depth of a human soul. Perhaps it would do us well to consider what may be happening inside our brothers and sisters and temper our critical speech of what we see occurring outside. Looking within will also help us identify our own sins and weakness so that we can be better positioned to offer the type of wisdom and compassionate guidance that can really be of help to our friends.

Kathleen Van Ella is a Minister of Holy Communion to the homebound parishioners of our beloved community.

Recently, after sharing the Eucharist with Walter and Barbara, she was inspired to write this poem. It is shared with the hope that you will be, too! Walter is 92 yrs. old and Barbara is 87. They were married in St. Peter Church over 60 years ago!

COMMUNION

Oh Me? ... She lamented... 'I haven't been anywhere'!
Even so, Barbara's clear blue eyes were dancing...
she was almost... laughing. Like a shawl, her long grey braid flung with sassy sass around her shoulder.

Walter, her husband, lie flat in the living room hospital bed, his strong farmer frame still obvious. His eyes smiling like hers. Her bed, next to his, crumpled... signs of up and down, and up and down. Crammed with a lifetime of cats and nick knacks.

Where had they been? Well – down the end a thousand rows of lush green corn and beans... and each morn... to milk the cows and care the ewes. Each eve... to rest the back... enjoy the meal, set the sun, and love each another.

This Sunday morning I carried Holy Communion to Walter and Barbara from St. Peter's Mass. Astounded, I watched as Barbara wrapped a strip of sheet under Walter's shoulders and lifted him to sit up... and both received the Strength of their lives.

I wondered in the stillness of their prayer time...
What gift to comfort them... when all she had she gives to him.
When all he is... he gives to her.

And now the both of them... such a gift to me.

The Emperor's Clothes

By Mike Rowe

"I think Hans Christian Andersen answered the question perfectly. Many years ago, when he wrote a great fable called 'The Emperor's New Clothes,' when the emperor was convinced that his tailors had made him beautiful garments, when in fact they hadn't made him anything at all. He was naked, sitting on his chair, naked, being paraded down the street as throngs of thousands of people in the town came out and everybody applauded because nobody wanted to admit that the emperor was naked. So they all pretended he had these beautiful clothes on until a kid standing in the front row is looking around and he sees the naked emperor and he's like, hey, man, that dude's naked. And once he said it, other kids said it, and then some adults said it, and then people began to nod. And then very quickly, it became clear that the emperor's new clothes didn't exist.

And so in some way, I think that's what we've been living through for the last couple of years. We've been asked to believe that which is unbelievable. We've been asked to lend credibility to that which is incredulous. We know it makes no sense to stand cheek to jowl in an airport or sit cheek to jowl on a plane and then stand six feet apart in an airport. We know it makes no sense to walk through a diner with the mask, only to take it off when you're seated. We know it makes no sense to cover a kid's face who's two years old or five years old or 15 years old, so they can go to school. We know it. And yet, for two years, very few people said anything. Well, now the kids spoke up and people are nodding their heads and we're coming out of our stupor."

A woman was at her hairdresser's getting her hair styled for a trip to Rome with her husband. She mentioned the trip to the hairdresser, who responded: "Rome? Why would anyone want to go there? It's crowded and dirty. You're crazy to go to Rome. So, how are you getting there?"

"We're taking United," was the reply. "We got a great rate!"

"United?" exclaimed the hairdresser. "That's a terrible airline! Their planes are old; their flight attendants never seem to be happy and the flights are always late. So, where are you staying in Rome?"

"We'll be at this exclusive little place over on the bank of the Tiber River called 'The Taste.'"

"Don't go any further. I know that place. Everybody thinks it's gonna be something special and exclusive, but it's really a dump."

"We're taking a tour of the Vatican and maybe even get to see the Pope."

"That's rich," laughed the hairdresser. "You and a million other people trying to see him. He'll look the size of an ant in that large hall. Boy, good luck on this lousy trip of yours. You're going to need it."

A month later, the woman again came in for a hairdo. The hairdresser asked her about her trip to Rome. "It was wonderful," explained the woman, "not only were we on time in one of United's newest planes, but it was overbooked and they bumped us up to first class! The food and wine were wonderful, and we had a handsome 28 year-old steward who waited on us hand and foot. And The Taste hotel was great! They had just finished a $5 million remodeling and now it's the finest hotel in the city! They, too, were overbooked, so they apologized and gave us the owner's suite at no extra charge!"

"Well, muttered the hairdresser "that's all well and good, but I know you didn't get to see the Pope."

Actually, we were quite lucky, because as we toured the Vatican, a Swiss Guard tapped me on the shoulder and explained that the Pope likes to meet some of the visitors. He asked if I would like to step into his private room and wait for the Pope to personally greet us. Sure enough, five minutes later, the Pope walked through the door and shook my hand! I knelt down and he spoke a few words to me.

"Oh, really? What'd he say?"

He said, "Who screwed up your hair?"
