On the Cover

The painting "Interview between Jesus and Nicodemus" by James Tissot is a masterpiece that has captivated art lovers since its creation in 1890. This work depicts a key moment in biblical history, where Jesus meets Nicodemus, a Pharisee who seeks answers to his questions about life and faith.

Tissot's artistic style is impressive in his work, as he uses a watercolor technique that gives the painting a sense of transparency and lightness. The golden and yellow tones in particular create a sensation of divine light that envelops the characters.

Fascinating story behind the painting: Tissot converted to Catholicism after the death of his lover and decided to dedicate his life to creating religious works of art. This particular painting was created after Tissot traveled to the Holy Land to study the holy sites and customs of the time. There are little-known aspects of the painting such as Tissot included accurate historical details in the work, such as the clothing worn by the Pharisee at the time. Tissot is also said to have used real models to create the characters in the painting, giving it a sense of authenticity and realism.

"When parents pray the rosary,
at the end of each decade
they should hold the Rosary aloft and say to Mary,
'With this Rosary, bind my children
to your Immaculate Heart.'
She will attend to their souls."
~ St. Louise de Marillac ~

Join your brothers and sisters and pray all four

The Uncomfortable Life in The Light

If you have ever been a woman over the age of 30 who stayed in a budget motel, you know the horror of awakening in a dark room, switching on the bathroom lights and screaming at the shriveled-up she-witch you find hiding there.

And you know the feeling of disappointment that blooms in the pit of your stomach as you realize the shriveled-up she-witch is your own reflection staring back at you beneath the merciless glare of overhead fluorescent lighting.

You may also know the relief of visiting a nice restaurant after dark and catching sight of yourself in the mirror. You lean forward, mesmerized by how different — how matte! How smooth! — the contours of your face look in what we call “forgiving light.” But this turn of phrase is simply not correct. It is not light, and it does not forgive. It is darkness, and it merely conceals.

But it feels so much better, doesn't it? Salvation can feel like condemnation, when being lost is all you know. Sometimes it is so much more comfortable to live lost in the shadows.

It is possible to yearn for darkness. Darkness gives cover to so many things. The light has a harshness that can almost seem demanding, exposing. Light can bleach. Light can burn.

“Is this really me?” you think in that budget hotel bathroom, examining acne scars you never saw before and crow's feet that seem to have developed overnight. The answer is yes. Yes, that is really you, all of it, every inch. There's nothing to be afraid of, just step into the light and own it.

“And this is the verdict, that the light came into the world, but people preferred darkness to light, because their works were evil.” — John 3:19
